

Heart Care International Partners in El Salvador

Sana mi Corazon is a non-profit organization that provides cardiac medical assistance to non-privileged children with congenital heart diseases in El Salvador.

In 2005, Heart Care International partnered up with Sana mi Corazon to bring yearly cardiac missions to El Salvador. Sana mi Corazon agreed to coordinate the logistics in El Salvador before and during the mission trips, to obtain the required permits and to manage the passage of HCI medical supplies through customs.

Heart Care International is very fortunate to have such an incredible partner. Thanks to Sana mi Corazon's hard work and relentless efforts, Heart Care International has been able to bring its yearly cardiac missions to El Salvador.

Every year, the Heart Care International and Bloom Hospital teams screen close to 150 children and are able to provide treatment to approximately 60 children.

HOSPITAL NACIONAL DE NIÑOS BENJAMIN BLOOM

Heart Care International partnered up as well with the Benjamin Bloom Children's Hospital, a publicly funded hospital that services indigent children from all over the country.

HCI is very grateful to the Bloom Hospital for allowing us to use its facilities for our yearly cardiac missions. On the other hand, HCI helps reduce the list of hospital patients waiting to have a heart surgery or a catheterization procedure. HCI also supports the training and education of the Bloom Hospital cardiovascular team.
